

SARA F. HATHAWAY

Author • Self-Defense Instructor • Podcast Host • Audio Drama Producer • Homesteader

ABOUT SARA

Sara F. Hathaway is an author, screenwriter, self-defense instructor, podcast host, and audio drama producer whose work empowers people to face uncertainty with confidence, skills, and resilience. Her central philosophy is that you can be confident in any survival situation if you have the skills and proper mental attitude. She wants people to learn through a fictional experience just how fragile our manufactured society is — and how faith, family, preparedness, and community provide the foundation for thriving in a changing world.

She lives these values as a homesteader in the piney forests of East Texas (Lindale), raising chickens and tending her garden with her family. A happily married mother of two boys, she delights in quality family time hiking, camping, and building a faith-centered life. Sara graduated from California State University, Sacramento with a B.S. in Business Administration and published her first novel in 2014. She is a fully licensed insurance agent in Texas, California, Arizona, and Nevada and holds a Line Producer Master certification from Stage 32 (script recommended). She is an advanced martial artist and self-defense instructor who hosts seminars.

THE CHANGING EARTH SERIES

Facing devastating natural disasters, Erika Moore fights to ensure her family's survival and freedom for all in a country spiraling into a tyrannical nightmare. The complete 11-Book Series includes the main saga plus side novels The Lost Vegas Years, Swenson, and Virgis.

|--------------------------------|---|
| 1. Day After Disaster | A global earthquake rattles the planet and ocean levels rise. Separated from her family, Erika must find them — dead or alive. |
| 2. Without Land | Refugees are housed in massive FEMA camps that become a ready labor supply. Erika claws for survival and an escape plan in the Las Vegas camp. |
| 3. The Walls of Freedom | With her past uncovered, Erika claims freedom, but the journey almost costs her family's life. Rescued by the resistance who want to use her story to rally the country. |
| 4. Battle for the South | Unsure who to trust, Erika illegally departs to save friends left behind in Vegas. Partnering with the Texas militia, the war for America begins. |
| 5. Dark Days in Denver | During the war for Denver, global disaster strikes again, darkening the skies. The leader sends his finest bounty hunter, TJ Swenson, to kill Erika's husband and bring her home. |
| 6. The Endless Night | As daylight becomes non-existent, Erika struggles under TJ Swenson's thumb. Believing her family murdered, her hope of escape disappears as the country crumbles under the Supreme General. |
| 7. Hope on the Horizon | Psychologically destroyed from her encounter with TJ, Erika struggles to keep the fight alive while healing herself and inspiring a broken nation. |
| 8. The Bitter End | The struggle for dominance reaches a crescendo as freezing temperatures close in and the final battle for the future of America unfolds. |
